The Sumter Watchman was founded in 1886 and the True Southron in 1894. The Watchman and Southron now has the combined circulation and influence of both of the old papers, and is manifestly the best advertising medium in Sumter.

White-haired School Boy.

He was a farmer of South Carolina, nearly 75 years old, and he was well off enough to be able to go on the notes of friends. But he couldn't write his name. So he had to make his mark and let it be witnessed by some one else. One day one of the officials in a bank he did business with said: "Captain, you had better let me see to it before you go on people's notes. Somebody might do you some day, on account of your having to make your mark."
A short time ago the old farmer came into the bank, beaming like one of those first spring days in February—when the sun seems to make the bare bleakness of winter bright and cheery.

"Well," said he to his banker friend at the wicket, "don't have to make my mark any more. Just watch me write my name! And that's not all—" putting down the pen with which he had labored with very creditable success, and pointing to the large lettered placards hanging on the walls behind the banker, "I can read every word on that calendar, too! Been going to night school, son. It's great!"

And the white-haired school boy—with the heart and soul of gladness of a freckled-faced, red-headed, bare-foot one, breezed out of the bank, happier than if he'd made the bank his home trade of his life.—The

LITTLE GIRL DID NOT TAKE A STEP FOR FIVE YEARS.

Strange Case Brought to Light in Montgomery, Ala.

"Little Margery had never been able to walk but always went on her hands and knees," writes Mrs. Clara Barham of 422 N. Bainbridge St., Montgomery, Ala.

"When she was a baby she was left partly paralyzed by some disease and has never walked. A neighbor asked me why I did not try Sulfero-Sol for her because it was so wondrously strengthening. I got a bottle and in less than a month its work was plainly apparent.

"One day I was overjoyed to see her raise herself to her feet by a chair. Gradually she got stronger and could walk a little. Now she can walk across the room alone. It is the most wonderful thing I ever heard of and it is all due to the miraculous power of Sulfero-Sol. It is a Divine remedy and I cannot hope to ever tell my gratitude for it.

"The neighbors can hardly believe it. Soon she will be well and playing like other children and I thank God for her recovery and for Sulfero-Sol."

Sulfero-Sol is sold and recommended by every Druggist in Sumter and vicinity. Murray Drug Co., State Distributors.

Sam Fraser returned last week from El Paso, Texas, where he has been with Co. L 1st S. C. infantry since the call to service several months ago. Mr. Fraser received a discharge from the company on account of having dependent relatives at home. He says the Hartsville boys on the border are getting along fine and hope to come home soon.—Hartsville Messenger.
